Tom Kramar (Dept. 583-7) lines up a long putt on Elmwoods #2 hole as Art Clausen (Dept. 748) tends the flagstick. Don Morris (Dept. 557) and Jerry Gau (Dept. 704) were part of the foursome. Kramar missed this putt but birdied #4 minutes later. The Wednesday Weoma Club Elmwood league has eight teams with a total of fifty-nine golfers.

Mrs. Nebraska America Makes Her Father Proud

Donn Dilla, Dept. 595, has much to be proud of these days. His daughter, Kathleen Coash, recently won the Mrs. Nebraska America Pageant held in Lincoln, Nebraska on June 30. This was the first time the 29-year old mother of two entered a beauty contest.

"I was greatly pleased and stunned that she won on her first attempt," said Donn. "There were nine contestants who made it to the State finals," he added.

The 5' 9" Kathleen was chosen by the judges to have the best costume and evening wear. Her costume, which reflected her recycling theme, was made of shower curtains, road maps, old newspapers and bottle caps. She sang her rendition of "Fifty Way to Save Ecology" to the tune of Fifty Way to Lose Your Lover.

On her pageant application was the question: "What is your ambition in life?" A portion of her answer was: "I intend to educate the public on the preservation of our environment."

Kathleen's husband, Steve, was instrumental in encouraging her to enter the pageant, but was "puzzled at all the effort and clothes it takes," she said.

Donn said she will now prepare for the Mrs. America Contest to be held in December.

Donn Dilla shares a moment at the pageant with his daughter, Kathleen, who won the Mrs. Nebraska America in Lincoln, Nebraska on June 30.

Desert Storm

Those people who brought in pictures of relatives serving in Operation Desert Storm can pick them up at the Weoma Club office, according to Clara Hendricks, secretary.
LOTTO BULL CONTEST

Marilyn Hollinger, Dept. 595-4, is a happy lady and $100 richer after correctly answering the LOTTO BULL SAFETY AWARENESS question: "We should never run a machine unless we are _________." The answer is ..."trained."

Marilyn wasn't eligible for the bonus question and next week's bonus will be worth $100 and the LOTTO BULL question is worth $100 for a possible total of $200. Pick up the August Fact Sheet if you haven't already done so.

HEARTSMART HALL OF FAME

Be Smart! Stay Young at Heart.

There are many factors that affect heart health. Some of them you can control the healthier your life will be. Take a few moments and browse through the "Hall of Fame" to find out if you're on the heart healthy track.

Eat Smart! Cut The Cholesterol and Trim the Fat

The heart, like any other muscle in your body, requires a good supply of blood from your arteries. In coronary heart disease, fats in the blood - especially cholesterol - are deposited along the inner walls of the coronary arteries. The more cholesterol and fats in your blood, the greater their tendency to build up in the artery walls.

Some of the first changes you can make are simple modifications in your diet. A low-cholesterol diet doesn't mean giving up everything you love, so take heart...this doesn't have to be a painful experience. The key is reducing your intake of food high in saturated fat, cholesterol or both. This includes fatty meats, organ meats, lard, butter, whole-dairy products and egg yolks.

There's More To Weight Than What You Ate:

The more overweight you are, the greater your risk for coronary heart disease. Overweight people frequently have higher blood pressure, higher blood cholesterol levels, and are more likely to develop diabetes as adults than people at their proper weight. You can control your weight by watching the balance between the calories you take in (food) and the calories you spend (physical activity).

• You lose weight if you spend more calories than you take in.
• You gain weight if you take in more calories than you spend.

Regular exercise is a great way to control your weight which leads us to our next top in the hall of fame.

Exercise Is...Heart Work

Exercise can help you watch your weight. Apples control is a benefit of exercise. Physical activity does not necessarily increase your appetite. In fact, regular exercise often has the opposite effect. Also, exercise burns up calories - but don't be mistaken about how many calories. For example, you would have to walk moderately fast (3.5 mph) for 60 minutes to burn off the calories (300) in one eighth of an apple pie.

Research indicates that inactive people have a higher risk of heart attack and a lower chance of post-heart-attack survival. The key to a heart workout is a regular program of aerobic exercise. The activity should be enjoyable lasting a minimum of 20 minutes at least three times a week.

Scale Down That High Blood Pressure

People with high blood pressure may feel good and look great. Warning signs of high blood pressure often don't appear until a heart attack or stroke occurs. You can do something about high blood pressure to bring it down.

It's important to have your doctor check your blood pressure regularly. If the checkup shows your blood pressure is higher than normal, your doctor may ask you to reduce the salt in your diet, lose weight, begin a regular exercise program and certainly quit smoking. In some cases, doctors prescribe medication to control elevated blood pressure. Either way, do the heart smart thing and follow your doctor's orders.

Absence Makes the Heart Grow Stronger

Your risk of having a heart attack increases the longer you smoke, the more cigarettes you smoke each day, and the more you inhale. If you quit smoking, you greatly reduce your risk of getting heart disease.

Quitting smoking at any age improves your health and chances of living longer. It's never too late to quit. When you quit smoking, you dramatically reduce your risk of a heart attack and sudden death. Ten years after quitting smoking, your risk of dying from heart disease is almost as low as someone who has never smoked.

You are your own heart mechanic. Just take it one step at a time. Slow, steady progress is better than no progress. Regular maintenance will help your engine - your heart - idle smoothly for a long time. It's your health and your life, and you can do something about it!!!

#5 Team Leads at Eagle Run

The 1991 golf season is more than half over and the #5 team leads the Weoma Club Eagle Run league. The all-women's league plays on Tuesdays.

The Chippies and the Par Tee Girls teams lag only one-half point behind the leaders.

#5 team members include Carolyn Hodges, Judy Stratbucker, Dee Kelly, Marianne Von Wagoner, Rita Saab and Norma Dorsey.

An outing is planned for September 14 at Valley View and will be open to all employees and guests. More information on this will be forthcoming.

Each Tuesday after playing golf, everyone is welcome to join "Edie & Company" for refreshments. Each week a different place is selected.

Weoma Club Softball Highlights

Bill Comba led Sluggo's with three hits and 4 RBI's in a 12-1 drubbing of Super Auto. He and Mike Huerta homered for the winners. Sluggo's record improved to 7-4.

In another game involving Weoma Club players, the Local Vocals led by Phil and Ozzie Filarecki, dropped a 13-9 game to the Eagles. "Hillbilly Phil" was said to be "shocked" as his team was down by 11-0 early in the game. A dramatic comeback by the Vocals fell short of victory, however. Both Filarecki boys had three hits.
