Copper apparatus and wire vice president Jay Carter (3rd from right) presents plaques of appreciation to five Omaha Works employees who have returned from Operation Des-

Desert Storm Soldiers Return to Omaha Works

by Linda Ryan

The day after Army Reservist Arnie Jacobsen left for active duty in the Persian Gulf, his wife found out that she was pregnant with the couple's fourth child.

When Bob Wall, a widower, departed for Gulf duty he left the care of his two daughters in the hands of his father. Gus Checketts left behind a wife and five children under the age of 7, while Don Taylor said goodbye to his wife and three children, the youngest just 4 months old.

Works Employees

These five men, all Army Reservists, are Omaha Works employees who were called to active duty during Operation Desert Storm. All are back to civilian life, perhaps just a little overwhelmed by the display of attention that has marked their return.

Nonetheless, they say that they very much appreciate the support their co-workers have given throughout their ordeal, specifically mentioning the oversized yellow ribbon that remained on the Works' flagpole until they returned. For certain, they're thankful to be home and back on the job.

They were honored at a staff luncheon July 15 at which copper apparatus and wire vice-president Jay Carter presented them plaques to signify our gratitude for their service to our country.

The plaques, featuring an American flag insignia above each recipient's name, read: "In appreciation for your service to our country in the Persian Gulf War. You have made us proud to be Americans. From your co-workers, AT&T--Omaha Works."

Checketts, an engineer in Dept. 781, recalled the concern he had for the well-being of his young family when he left for Saudi Arabia in October. He is a captain and commanding officer for the Army's 172nd Transportation Company that was headquartered at Dammam near Dhahran.

Desert Storm Soldiers Return to Omaha Works

"We really couldn't anticipate what it was going to be like," he said. "There were a lot of questions in our minds."

The 180 or so troops under his command included Clark (a production specialist in IBU 582) and Wall (a production specialist in IBU 581). Clark is an Army sergeant first class and served as a platoon sergeant for about a third of the company's troops. Wall is a staff sergeant and served as an assistant platoon sergeant.

Guarding the Water

The 172nd Transportation Company was responsible for hauling water to strategic location for use by Allied ground troops. Their cargo more precious than gold, "we had armed guards with us at all times," Checketts said.

The water-hauling followed a "pre-positioning" plan, setting up water supplies in advance of the war's outbreak. "At times we were in front of the ground troops," Checketts said. When the ground war began, Checkett's troops pushed into Iraq and Kuwait with water supplies.

In all they hauled 23 million gallons of water and drove 1.4 Million miles to transport it. Yet, they suffered only one serious accident during their assignment.

For the first six weeks of their tour, the troops lived in tents on the desert sand. Later, they set up housekeeping in "an old junkyard," said Clark, that had been cleared out for their stay.

For Clark, the reality of his son serving in the same Army company "actually was a plus." He explained that since his son had orders to serve in Saudi Arabia, Clark was thankful that he could be there with him to keep a fatherly eye on things.

Second Tour

Wall is the only one of the five Works employees called to duty who already was familiar with both the routine and unexpected turns of war. He served in Vietnam and admitted that thoughts of what might lie ahead were not easy to ignore.

The threat of SCUD missile attacks, as we at home learned on the news, was ever present. Checketts said that for a two-week period overhead SCUD missile explosions were commonplace. His troops wore their gas masks every night "for the SCUD parties, we joked, because we were in 'cos-tume.'"

Jacobsen, meanwhile, kept his mask handy, too. He was in Riyadh when a SCUD missile hit an Army barracks, killing 28 soldiers. A staff sergeant in the Army's 82nd Field Hospital, he was attached to the Texas National Guard's 217 Evacuation Hospital assigned to Riyadh.

A production specialist in IBU 582, he left for Saudi Arabia the day after Christmas to serve as a practical nurse. Jacobsen helped to prepare for the possibility of administering to an expected 1,500 casualties a day once war began.

Don Taylor also was prepared to leave for Saudi. Instead, his orders were changed. A member of the 82nd Field Hospital, he left the day after Christmas for Fort Sam Houston in Texas. A sergeant first class, he was in charge of hospital food service.

Prepared for Casualties

"Fort Sam is one of the Army's largest military hospitals," Taylor said. Preparations had to be made to accommodate an expected 1,500 war casualties who would be sent there. Taylor worked on customizing the dining facility that essentially doubled its serving capacity.

Now that the five men are home again, they've spent some time reflecting on what impact their experiences have had on their lives.

Checketts recollected how Iraq prisoners of war would scramble to grab hold of the sides of the trucks that hauled water, so that they might return to base with the Americans. "At times we'd have a hundred of them grabbing the sides," he said.

His wartime experience had made Checketts "more reflective and I appreciate things more--the value of life, having a bathroom to use, even mosquitos."

More Appreciative

"You do appreciate everything," Jacobsen said --including little things like tap water coming out of a faucet. "We really felt sorry for the Iraqi soldiers and for what (Saddam) Hussein was doing to his own people."

Clark agreed and commented that "Omaha is definitely an oasis." It wasn't difficult getting back into the American lifestyle, either, he said. All it took was "a couple of good prime ribs."

Taylor said his return to civilian life was only a little difficult, explaining that it seemed strange to take control of his daily workday and leisure schedule. "When you're in the Army, they've got you 24 hours," he said.

Two-time combat veteran Wall said his Desert Storm experience has given him much to think about.

Referring to the tyrannical rule of Hussein over his people, Wall said, "I'm reminded of the freedom I have. And it reminds me again to watch

Weoma Bicycle Club

We hope you have noticed the Bike Club schedule that came out earlier this month. Some of the members have been out riding on these nice days.

Early on Sunday morning, July 14, Chuck Meyers, Craig Alberhasky and Arnie Kelson rode the 25 mile loop from Tranquility Park to Elk City to Elkhorn via Military Road and West Maple Road. The uphill were challenging but the downhill, glorious. The scenery was typical rural eastern Nebraska. Chuck and Craig were understanding most understanding to slow down for the slow-poke of the group.

If you want to be assured of riding companions for any scheduled ride, call other club members from the attached list. New ride suggestions are welcome. Also, if you are a new rider and feel more comfortable with shorter rides, let us know. We are in an accommodating mood now. Later, who knows?

Look for the August ride schedule due out next week in this same publication.

Happy wheeling!

Red Cross Pleased with Turnout

The American Red Cross visited the Omaha Works for their annual "O" type blood solicitation. The Red Cross had hoped for 96 units which called for three donors every 15 minutes. Ninety-seven employees responded with six being deferred.

The end result was very gratifying to the Red Cross as well as the AT&T Bloodmobile committee. A "Gallon Club Coffee" is being planned for the May and July blood donors sometime before the Bloodmobile visit on September 26 and 27.

FITNESS Guide

WATER

8 Good Reasons for 8 Glasses a Day

1. Water serves many functions in the body. It serves as building material for growth and repair of the body. It functions in digestion, absorption, circulation and excretion.
2. Water is absorbed by certain types of fiber in the digestive tract and aids in elimination. It helps reduce the incidence of constipation.
3. Water is absorbed rapidly in the digestive tract and provides a quick response to thirst. Drinks with sugar in them are slowed in the stomach. Often, instead of quenching thirst, these drinks make an individual more thirsty.
4. Water contains no calories. It also does not contain caffeine (like coffee, tea and sodas), acids (like regular and decaf coffee and tea) or phosphorus (like regular and diet sodas).
5. Water is responsible for maintaining body temperature. Perspiration during warm weather and in fevers keeps the skin moist. The body is cooled by the evaporation of perspiration.
6. Water intake helps to reduce the bloating related to water retention. Since cells contain water and are surrounded by water, they will retain less water if there is a constant external source.
7. Water is a solvent in which nutrients for cell function are transported. Adequate nutrient availability aids in healthy skin and hair growth and repair.
8. Water is used as a lubricant in the body. Special water-soluble substances in saliva make food slippery and others around bones lubricate joints.

REMEMBER!! Increase your water gradually by one glass extra per day each week. Your body needs time to adapt to the changes.

Weoma Club Softball Highlights

JULY 2

One of Dave Boyer's four hits was a home run that helped the Local Yocals outlast the Eagles, 9-6. Tom Book also homered for the Yocals for one of his three hits.

Sluggo's had a tough time with Super Auto but rallied for a 14-8 victory. Falling behind 8-6 after only two innings, great defensive plays by Tom "Touch 'em All" Vacanti and Bill "The Flash" Comba insured the win for Sluggo's.

July 17

"Hillbilly Phil" Filarecki provided the key hit as the Local Yocals tripped up Balls & Strokes by a score of 3-1.

Sluggo's lost a close game to Novotny's in two extra innings, 6-5. Terry Moore and Tom Furst each went 3-for-4 for Sluggo's.

"I'm a little bit stronger in my religion now than before," he continued, "and I really appreciate how the American people prayed for us and our families."

He paused, then added that even though the war has ended there still is something that must be done: "Don't let the prayers stop now--for all of us."

Weoma Ski Club Preparing Trips for 1992

by Darwin Fager

This past year has been good to the Weoma Ski Club. We tried some new things and you supported us in a big way. For this we say THANK YOU!

The time has now come to present plans for this winter. Changes are in the offing. Many of you enjoyed the AMTRAK trip and it will be offered again with an option for a fourth day of skiing.

New this year is a ski trip worked out with United Air Lines, Avis car rental and the downtown Salt Lake City Hilton Hotel. If your time is limited and you enjoy western Nebraska at 32,000 feet, THIS IS FOR YOU!

Utah Trip Notes—

- (1) July 31 is a critical date because it is the last chance to get the lowest available rate of $238.00 round trip.
- (2) Car rental costs - based on (1) authorized driver only. Additional driver(s) will increase rental costs. Information forthcoming
- (3) Area set-up is similar to Denver/Dillon but the distance between is slightly less (30-40 minutes to the slopes). Ski areas include Snowbird, Deer Valley, Park City (& West), Alta, Brighton, etc. 1988 lift tickets (full price) range from $11 to $35, you get what you pay for. Like in Colorado, discount lift tickets are available at supermarkets, gas stations, etc.
- (4) The carrier is United. Airfare is based on a 10 person minimum. Tickets after July 31,

A meeting was held on Sunday, July 21 at the Stockade in Millard. NOTE: If flight can be filled by July 31, it will save an important $30.00 per seat.

Attending the meeting will be the new officers: John Pinkerton, Jim Kelly and Utah Trip Leader Terry Kamino. Teresa Sakalas will be there with special assistant, Jim Black.

The social hour is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. and the business meeting to start at 7:00 p.m. As usual, you can order from the menu or just sample finger food. We may even do a few door prizes for paid-up members of the club.

1991 will cost $268 but there is more flexibility for cancellations, changes. The $268 figure is also based on a 10 person minimum, thus if only a total of 19 persons go, they all have to agree to take the same air fare.

- (5) Use of frequent flyer mileage will depend upon the group size.
- (6) Flights are based on the last available United flights each day. If circumstances (outside of United's control) force delays, be prepared to pay for additional incurred costs like lodging, meals, etc.

Sorry this is such short notice!! Please contact Terry Kamino as soon as possible if you have an interest in the Utah trip. Call x3788 or 333-1485 (home).
