balloons and wrapped toys.

Thanks also go to the clowns, Santa's helpers, Mrs. Claus, Santa's elves, the cartoon MC and the many costume wearers.

Each one of you were extremely important in making the 1990 Christmas Party the success that it was.

Omaha Works People Again Display Community Spirit

It was another good year for the children who rely on the employees of the Omaha Works for their Christmas toys. Darwin Fager, Weoma Club director and Toy Drive chairman, reported a grand total of $3,570.00 in cash and toys were collected, surpassing last year's total.

The toys were on display in the auditorium before being taken to the Salvation Army's distribution site at 36th & Cuming Sts. Employees also donated their time distributing the toys.

Fager emphasized the Toy Committee's appreciation toward each person who donated, each person who canvassed and each person who volunteered their personal time.

"This display of generosity and volunteerism on the part of the Omaha Works employees made Christmas much brighter for many families", said Fager.

In addition to the Toy Drive, Works volunteers could also be seen the weeks preceding Christmas at several area retailers ringing bells for the Salvation Army's Tree of Lights campaign. The number of volunteers for this effort reached 403, according to Bob Miller, Weoma Club/Pioneer administrator.

Miller also reported that at least $9,909.30 was collected by the Bell Ringers. See page six for photographs of some of the Bell Ringers.

Another Christmas project was the Angel Tree. Donors would take a name from the tree in the cafeteria and purchase a gift for that person. Project Chairman Mike MacVittie said that 260 gifts were provided for citizens living in the Senior High Rise Towers in the Omaha area.

Toastmasters Meetings

The AT&T Toastmasters Club reminds its members that the regular meeting is Thursday, January 10 at 4:05 p.m. in the Pioneer Room.

Marilyn Hollinger, secretary, says plans are being made for the installation of officers at the January 26 dinner/meeting. The time will be 6:00 p.m. but the site has not yet been announced. Members may bring spouses or friends.

Omaha Works Parents Proud of Husker Sons

Three Omaha Works employees are really caught up in Cornhusker football along with a good majority of their co-workers. However, these three people have a special interest because their sons, Curtis Cotton, Pat Tyrance, Jr. and Calvin Jones, are players on the Nebraska football team.

Johnnie Mays, Dept. 592, is the mother of Curtis Cotton, a junior and defensive line-backer for the Huskers. Cotton graduated from Omaha Central where he excelled as a running back with Leodis Flowers, who is also a Cornhusker. Johnnie, who has 13 years' service with AT&T, goes to all the home games in Lincoln saying, "I wouldn't miss them for anything!"

Another outstanding player is Pat Tyrance, Jr., a senior, whose father Pat, Sr. is a supervisor in Dept. 583. The Nebraska defensive back, #40, is also outstanding in the classroom where he is studying medicine. Pat is in his senior year and played his high school football at Millard North.

Ruth Ann Jones, who works in FDI, is the mother of Calvin Jones, also from Omaha Central High School. Jones is a red-shirt freshman running back and is sure to see much action in the coming years as he was high on the Huskers' recruiting list.

Cotton brings down Oklahoma State quarterback in Nebraska's victory in Big 8 conference play.
